LIVE NEWS FROM THE TWIN CITIES

GOING WELL

Reports from the block and business section workers in the East Chicago Bay Scout campaign are coming in slowly and less than half of the workmen had reported at a late hour this morning. The reports which have been turned in, however, are encouraging and indicate that the $5,000 quota may be raised. The amount already reported is only slightly under $2,000.

Block workers have had widely different success although there have been but few persons who have refused to give anything. In some blocks where perhaps there were more boys of scout age the contributions reached $35 or $40. The business men as a whole have been contributing liberally.

STOLE VALUABLES

"It takes a tall, lean, dark-skinned girl to make the preacher lay his good book down," so one of the recent popular songs goes. But in the case of Dr. Holt, who lives at 3817 Cedar street, Indiana Harbor, it took a tall, slim, dark-skinned girl to get away with $100 cash, $150 worth of jewelry and a revolver. The woman, Catherine Calhoun, had been employed as a house keeper by the doctor and stole the valuables from the trunk while the doctor was out.

AUTOS COLLIDE

Two Indiana Harbor residents last night figured in automobile collisions in which their machines were badly damaged, but no one was hurt. The delivery truck of Ben Wolper, 3723 Cedar street, was badly smashed when J. D. Solomon of Chicago ran into him on 136th street and the Overland car of John Skoluk, 4006 Beach street, was badly damaged when he ran into the truck of V. A. Smith & Co. of Chicago, at 135th street.

TRIED OLD GAME

The old pocketbook game failed to work yesterday when Bruce Crites, a Chicago negro, tried it on Mrs. Louise Nixon, who lives at 3223 Cedar street, Indiana Harbor. Mrs. Nixon was about to board a train at the Englewood station in Chicago when she noticed two negroes pick up a pocket book. Having made sure that Mrs. Nixon had witnessed the "pick-up" the two negroes walked over and informed her that the pocket book contained $21.99 and that if she would keep quiet about the finding she should have $100 of it. The only requirement was that she furnish $165 with which to make change.

The two men came to Indiana Harbor with Mrs. Nixon and waited at the Lake Shore station, which she went to get the $165. Instead she called the police station and Sergeant Makar went to the station and caught Crites. The other man had evidently smelled a mouse and left before Sergeant Makar arrived.

Twin City women responded well to the political meeting at the Masonic Temple last evening and to hear the issues of the republican platform as given by Attorney Edward Jennings Green of Chicago, and Mrs. Edna Thomas Gordon, of Iowa, traveling in the interests of the republican party. The enthusiasm of the women in attending all political meetings but evidence of the interest they are taking to learn for themselves what the various candidates have to offer for the policy of their country, that they might use with the greatest intelligence their use of the ballot.
